

Minnewaska Renovation Planned

By CARL GRAHAM

ACCORD
Changes planned by the owner for the Lake Minnewaska resort must preserve as much as possible the natural beauty of the area, but how best to do this?

That was the topic Thursday night as the Town of Rochester Environmental Conservation Council (ECC) met with Kenneth B. Phillips, president of Minnewaska Mountain Houses Inc., to discuss the impact of zoning changes Phillips has asked for at the resort area astride Route 44-55.

Phillips has asked that a proposed town house area be changed from A residential to R-1 residential and that two proposed commercial areas along the highway be changed from A residential to B-2 highway business classification. The Rochester town board deferred action on the requests at its Dec. 5 meeting because it had not received a report from the Ulster County Board of Health.

Peter Blake, ECC chairman, said that the commission, which has only an advisory function, will submit its recommendations on the Phillips requests to the town board at its February meeting.

Phillips spent considerable time describing his plans for a new Cliff House hotel, single family dwellings and condominium apartments, but Blake introduced a matter of more immediate concern to ECC, saying he had visited the resort and had seen untreated sewage from the Wildmere Hotel being discharged onto the surface of the ground.

Phillips and his son, Kenneth B. Phillips Jr., both denied this, saying it was not raw sewage but effluent from a malfunctioning septic tank which has been corrected.

Blake insisted the sewage had not been treated, but the younger Phillips said the effluent from the hotel goes through a septic tank. He conceded that "paper products" might have come to the surface but denied that human waste was being discharged as Blake charged.

Phillips said he was interested in getting as much response as possible to his plans for Minnewaska, and invited ECC members to visit the resort and see conditions for themselves.

Phillips was highly critical of a newsletter published by the John Burroughs Society which was critical of the owner's plans for expansion and renovation. He said that several of the statements in the newsletter were incorrect and said that others had been taken out of context in a manner that reflected unfavorably on his plans.

Asked if plans for Minnewaska were not risky at a time when the Catskill resort business is slumping, the younger Phillips said that the philosophy of most resort hotels is "Come let us entertain you."

"At Minnewaska, it is 'Come and entertain yourself,'" he said. "This is a crucial difference."

In other action, the commission:

- Accepted with deep regret the resignation of Mrs. Lucy Stoddard from the 11-member commission.

- Named her daughter, Mrs. Rita Ayers, a junior member who recently graduated, to replace her as a full member.

- Voted to continue for another year its membership in the New York State Association of Conservation Commissions. Mrs. Kay Wagenföhr, an ECC member, is vice president of the state group.

- Added several names to a list of places which it will recommend be kept as nearly as possible in their natural states. The list, which is still being compiled, includes Vly Swamp, Canyon Lake, Boodle Hole, Peterskill Basin, Rocky Bottom, the D&H Canal, Peterskill, Coxon Kill, Saunderskill Watershed and Vernookkill.

Lawmakers Back 'Team'

The entire Ulster County Legislature unanimously backed its negotiating team Thursday night and the four-man committee's proposals for salary increases for the

Law Is Approved

KINGSTON

Following a public hearing Thursday night at which there were no objections, Ulster County Legislature by a vote of 32 to 0 approved a local law validating the payment of financial obligations incurred by the Town of Lloyd in 1973. Passage of the measure provided for the borrowing of the necessary funds which include $11,105.51 for the Highland Water District and $11,940.87 for the Town of Lloyd.

According to a special report of a committee on legalizing the 1973 Lloyd bills, the inability of the Town of Lloyd 1974 board to pay the claims was the result of the inability of the highway funds to be transferred back to the general fund.

Legislator Eugene K. Noe, chairman of the special committee said that "there was no malfeasance of any kind or nature and that through inadvertence, mistake or error, a legalizing act of the legislature was necessary "to validate the payment and provide for the borrowing. The committee was unanimous in recommending that the local law be passed.

One member of the 33-member legislature was absent—Eugene Houck (D-Dist.7).

county's employees which are reported to be a bit in excess of 20 per cent over a two year period.

The negotiating team was definitely non-committal, however, concerning any terms of the contract which the employees will have in their hands tonight to consider. The Civil Service Employees Association has scheduled a meeting for 7:30 p.m. at Holiday Inn.

Once CSEA is made aware of the exact terms of the contract proposal it has roughly three alternatives—to accept or reject it. To seek out a fact-finder if they reject it or, to put the proposal to a vote of the individual employees.

The legislature, meeting in executive session, emerged from the meeting having reportedly given its negotiating team "a vote of confidence", leaving the team with a feeling of optimism that the county's 800 to 900 employees will find the proposal acceptable.

They called it "a good package" but, according to Dr. Gerald P. Gorman, (D-City) head of the negotiating team and minority leader of the legislature, to answer any other questions concerning the content of the proposal "would be unwise" at this time.

Both the legislature's negotiating team and CSEA have referred to the negotiations as being "a sensitive area."

Terms of the contract proposed were outlined by Gorman and his committee comprised of Louis M. Klein (D-Dist.6) William West (R-Dist.4) and Brian R. White (R-Dist.8). Joseph Kelly, the county's professional negotiator was also in attendance at the meeting which was closed to the public and the press.

To date the road to successful negotiations has been a bumpy one with an impasse reached in December and the CSEA agreeing to extend the Dec. 31 contract deadline to today.

Although spokesmen for both the county and CSEA had steadfastly refused to talk publicly concerning the negotiations, the Freeman learned according to an informed source in late December, that the chief bone of contention was the question of whether or not to continue the shorter summer work day of 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. during July and August. The balance of the year employees work one hour longer.

It was also reported at that time that the more than 20 per cent wage increase offered the workers in December was considerably greater than the county's initial offer and was apparently satisfactory to CSEA.

Police Commissioners Searching for Chief

NEW PALTZ

The newly formed Board of Police Commissioners is searching for a chief for the combined New Paltz town and village police departments.

Eric E. Winkky, chairman of the commission and a former sergeant in the New York State Police, outlined qualifications for the position. Candidates must have at least three years of police service (service in the military police is acceptable), or three years as a sergeant, or comparable service. There are no age limits for the position.

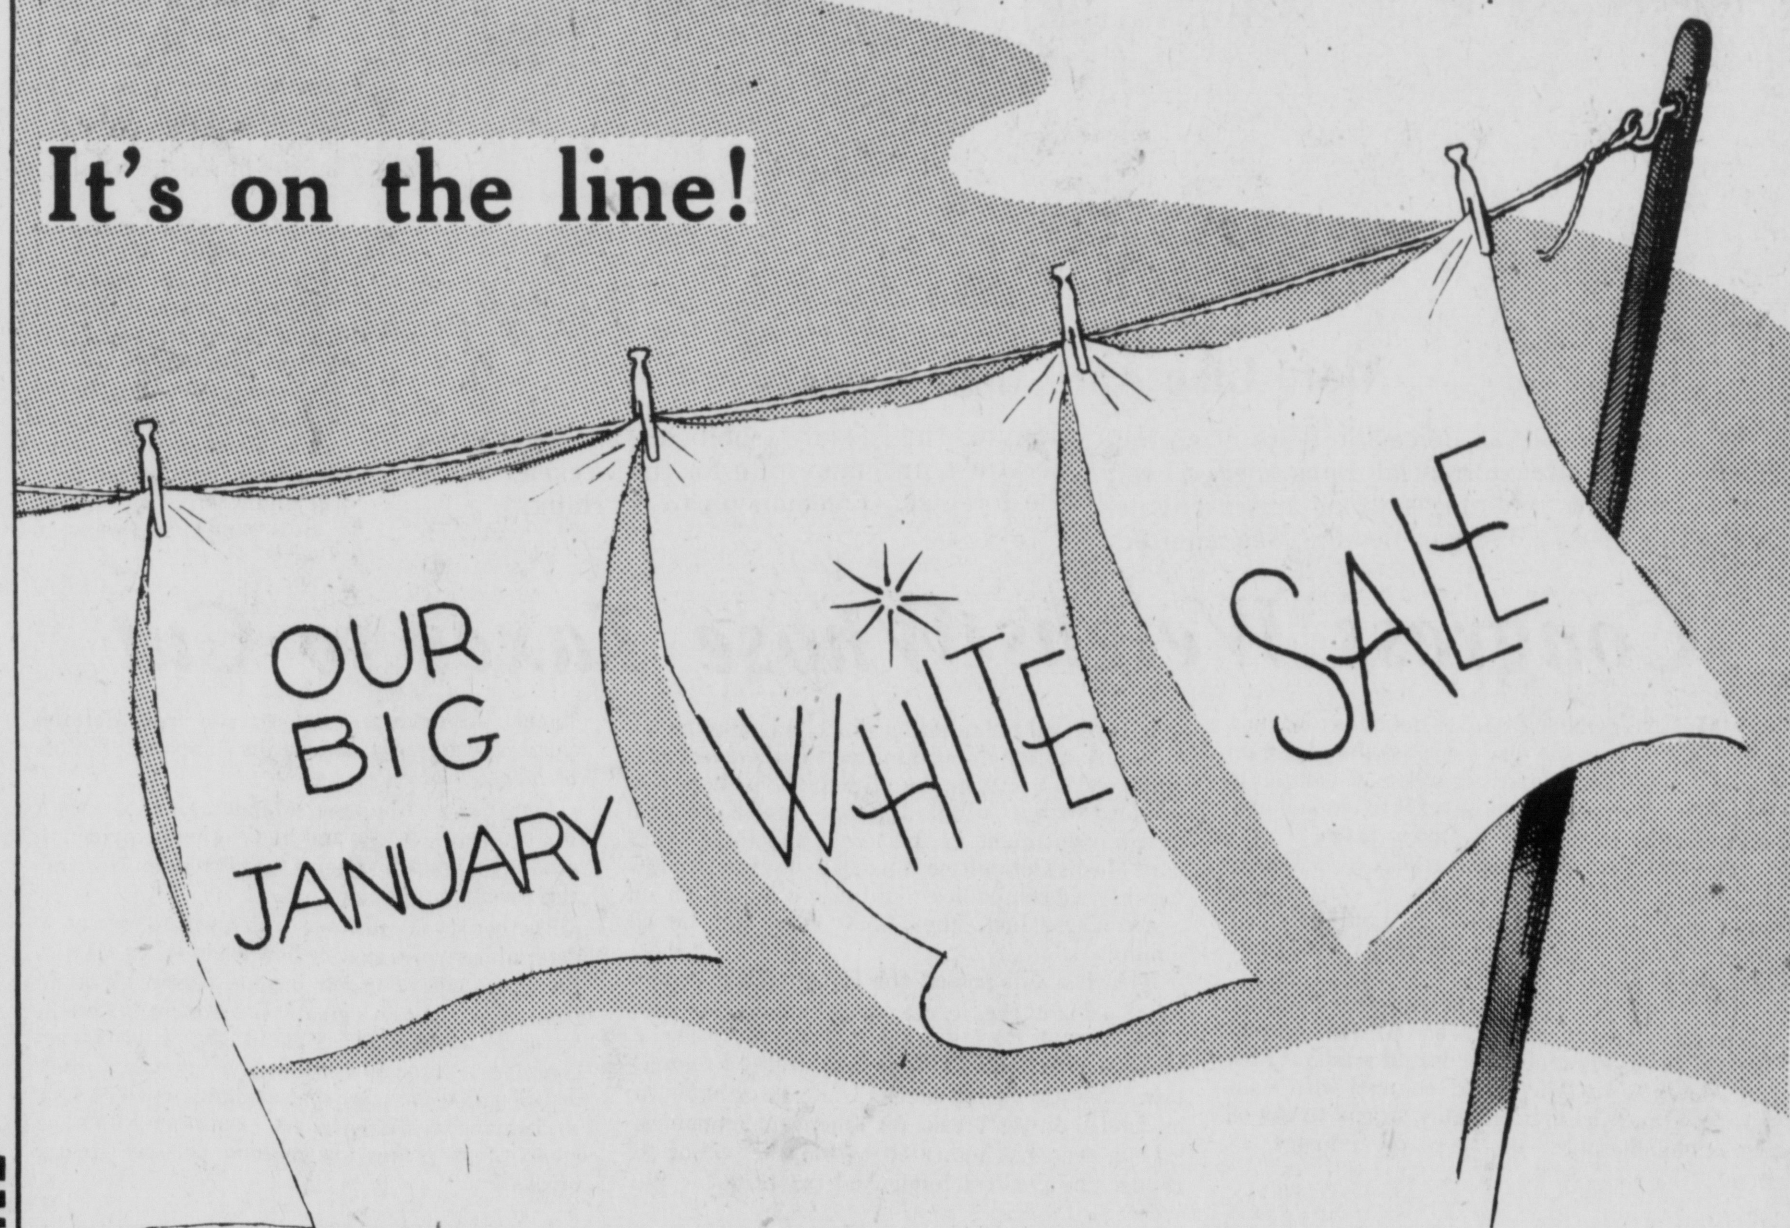

The commission hopes to have a candidate selected and ready to begin operation by April 1. The successful candidate will hold Civil Service status in the position, Winkky said.

The chief will be responsible for the day-to-day operation of the department and will prepare departmental budgets and report to the commissioners. Salary range is in the neighborhood of $15,000 yearly and is negotiable.

Potential candidates can arrange an interview by calling Winkky or Richard Lent.

City School Board Member Censured for Remarks

By WADE BURKHART

KINGSTON

Fred Hofbauer, member of the Kingston Schools Consolidated Board of Education, was censured by the board Thursday night for remarks he made in debate over fund transfers involving the new high school, when he charged that Board Member Evelyn Corsones has a "family relationship" conflicting with her decision making as a board member.

Hofbauer did not elaborate on his phrase "family relationship."

Hofbauer is the chairman of the board's business management committee. After he lost a vote to refer back to committee resolutions to transfer money to pay Brinier and Larios for a topographic map of part of the new Lake Katrine site and Halverson-McCullough Associates for the design for the new building, Hofbauer refused to offer the resolutions.

Mrs. Corsones, a member of the committee, read the resolutions, and Hofbauer said she might have been willing to read them because of a "family relationship."

Board Member James T. Owens offered the resolution to censure Hofbauer, saying Hofbauer's remarks were an "insult" to both Mrs. Corsones and the board. Board President Joseph Feraca called Hofbauer's remarks "ill-placed and way out of order."

Mrs. Corsones and Hofbauer abstained from the censure vote, and only Board Member Marianne Darrow voted against it.

There were other exchanges between board members. In a debate over whether it should be board policy rather than just a president's directive to have committee minutes in board members' hands before a meeting, Feraca said Mrs. Darrow missed a large number of meetings, something she hotly denied.

Mrs. Darrow asked Feraca when the board had authorized him to deliver an end of the year report on the board's behalf, something he did in a press conference Tuesday. The implication was that the board never had; she never got an answer.

Board member Thomas Reynolds called Mrs. Darrow's motion to make committee report submission board policy "a ridiculous and childish motion," but it was referred to committee for study anyway.

In other action, the board: ★ Voted to put to the voters the question of reducing board member terms from the present five years to three years. Superintendent Louis A. Salzmann, as clerk of the board, and the attorney, Charles Gaffney, were directed to take steps to see that it is on this May's ballot. The change must be approved by district residents; if approved it will take effect over three years, beginning in 1976.

★ Received the collector's accounting of the 1974-75 tax roll, showing a total roll of $9.9 million, more than $4 million of which is in the City of Kingston.

★ Authorized the signing of a natural gas contract with Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp. effective Feb. 1, at a rate of 96¢ per thousand cubic feet, a 22.5 per cent increase.

Final Rites

Final rites for Richard Tucker, one of the leading tenors in American operatic history, were to be conducted today on the stage of the Metropolitan Opera House. Tucker, 60, died Wednesday in Kalamazoo, Mich., after suffering a heart attack in his motel room. Thousands were expected to cram the eight-year old Metropolitan House for the first funeral ever held there, and the first for the Met since conductor Leopold Danrosch had his funeral on stage of the old house in 1886. Tucker was to celebrate his 30th season with the Met later this year. Robert Merrill, a fellow Met Opera star, who found Tucker ill in his room and telephoned for help, called the late tenor the "greatest in the world."

Taxi Driver Robbed

KINGSTON

City police are seeking a man who robbed a taxi driver of approximately $41, at knife-point early today.

City detectives said the driver, Arthur Damon of Cedar Street, who was operating a Royal Taxi Cab, told them he picked up the man at the corner of Ravine and Abel Streets. When Damon went to let the man off on Franklin Street, he allegedly pulled a knife and demanded money. Some $26 in fares and Damon's wallet containing about $15 were reported taken. Damon was not injured. The robbery occurred shortly before 2 p.m.

The robber was described as a black, between 5 feet 5 and 5 feet 7, of medium build, weighing between 135 and 140 pounds. He had an afro haircut, a small beard and was dressed all in brown, police said they were told.

Investigation is continuing.

Meanwhile, state police arrested a Hopewell Junction, Dutchess County youth Thursday on a warrant charging him with the Nov. 27 knife-point robbery of the Bonze & Van Vlack drug store on Main Street in New Paltz. Kurt Hanson, 17, was charged with first degree robbery, a felony. A quantity of pills were reported taken in the robbery.

Hanson was confined in Ulster County Jail in lieu of $15,000 bail following arraignment.

Girl Fatally Injured

ULSTER PARK

A walk across Route 9W to a girlfriend's house proved fatal for a nine-year-old Ulster Park girl Thursday afternoon when she stepped into the path of an oncoming auto, Ulster County Sheriff's Deputies said.

The dead girl was identified as Dawn Dunn of Box 178B, Ulster Park. She was rushed from the scene by Doctor's Ambulance, but was pronounced dead on arrival at Kingston Hospital.

The girl was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dunn. He is employed at the Daily Freeman as controller.

Sheriff's deputies said the girl was walking with an unidentified 10-year-old friend when the mishap occurred. The children were apparently watching a car coming from one direction when Dawn Dunn stepped onto the roadway and was struck by a vehicle coming in the opposite direction, deputies said.

The driver of the car,

Daniel Strickland, 22, of 12 Townsend Boulevard, Poughkeepsie, attempted to stop, but was unable to avoid hitting the girl, police said. He was not ticketed.

The mishap was investigated by sheriff's department Investigator Arthur Nersesian, deputies Charles Brodhead and Richard Malone, and Juvenile Aid Bureau head Thomas Johnson.

Carey's Strong Medicine

Our new governor proved himself to be a man who could turn quite a phrase when he warned New Yorkers that 'the days of wine and roses' for the state are over. Austerity was the keynote of Governor Carey's inaugural message and the severity of it must have caught some of his supporters short judging by the lack of enthusiasm with which it was received.

While a congressman, Hugh Carey's image was one of a moderate Democrat who supported most social programs dating back to Lyndon Johnson's Great Society. But as one observer stated, the new governor, appearing before the legislature for the first time, made Scrooge look like a spendthrift. In fact, Carey's address was interrupted by applause, prefatory at that, only five times which must set a new record for unenthusiasm on The Hill.

But the theme of the new administration was made clear. A period of stringent belt tightening is at hand, and we feel it is coming none too soon.

Cutting the budget by 10 per cent;

freezing state hiring; microscopic scrutiny of agency budgets with an item by item review; eliminating superfluous state jobs, and possible pay cuts; cracking down on welfare frauds, and in many other ways eliminating the excessiveness of big government is the strong medicine Governor Carey has prescribed. A medicine a very sick patient requires.

In one area, however, the governor may have erred. In calling for a 10 cents per gallon state tax on gasoline, Hugh Carey is basically hitting the people who can ill afford it the most. Due to a deplorable lack of mass transportation in all but the state's urban areas, working class New Yorkers make use of the automobile not as a luxury but as a necessity to go to and from work. The poor and the lower middle class are most dependent on the automobile as a means of transportation. A regressive gasoline tax, which may very well be followed by a federal hike, would prove too onerous a burden for a majority of the state's taxpayers.

Argument for Abstinence

The case of Rep. Wilber D. Mills, who for years was ritually described as "chairman of the powerful House Ways and Means Committee," continues to be painfully instructive. Mills performed stepped down from his chairmanship but has now decided to remain in Congress. At the same time, he has ascribed his recent problems to alcoholism.

The congressman's admitted drinking problem may not fully explain his curious involvement with a stripper—an involvement that brought discredit to Congress and scandalized the public. Some may see as self-serving his avowed belief that "the fatigue and pressure built up by years of dedicated work for my constituents and for the whole nation had an impact on me far beyond what I had suspected." That is not a very plausible excuse for abandoning discretion and carrying on drunkenly in public places.

Yet this aspect of the Mills story is, as we say, instructive. It underscores the danger that so-called social drinking may rather subtly change into a problem of severe alcohol abuse and all its consequences. Congressmen Mills acknowledges that, almost without being aware of it, he had begun to indulge in heavy drinking from time to time between periods of sobriety.

We take no holier-than-thou attitude toward such lapses. It is a serious trouble that comes upon a lot of people who think they can "handle their liquor." When it happens the answer, as Mills remarked, "lies in total abstinence."

By JACK ANDERSON

With Les Whitten
WASHINGTON—Richard Nixon has spent almost double the amount Congress allotted for his transition from President to common citizen.

Congress voted a flat $200,000 to help him adjust to private life. He has already spent at least $367,000.

We have obtained the expenditures that Nixon has run up in exile at San Clemente, Calif.

During the first three months, $107,000 was paid out in salaries to 29 aides, including his personal butler, maid, three chauffeurs and a medical corpsman. This doesn't count $47,000 for the Nixon's living expenses, nor $2,419 for their miscellaneous travel bills.

Nixon's own travel from Washington to San Clemente cost the taxpayers $8,440 from the transition fund. But this was only part of the cost, the rest was charged to the White House because he technically remained President during the first part of the flight.

There was a bill for $3,147, however, for packing and moving Nixon's personal effects to Andrews Air Force Base outside Washington. No charge was made against the transition fund for the shipment to San Clemente, because the crates were carried on scheduled military flights. Nixon's military drivers picked up the crates at El Toro Marine Base, Calif.

To keep Nixon's fleet of government cars full of gas has cost $2,000. The taxpayers are even paying for magazine subscriptions for the former President.

A bill for $9,172 was submitted for office supplies, wire service machines and magazine subscriptions.

Not included in the transition cost, of course, is the $17 million that the federal government has sunk in the Nixon estates in California and Florida.

But even after he gave up the presidency, the government continued to lavish money on his two estates. During the first three months of his retirement, $52,160 was spent at San Clemente and $23,540 at Key Biscayne to operate the facilities.

It has cost another $83,000 to screen, crate and store millions of Nixon papers. There has been no final decision, meanwhile, who will wind up owning his presidential papers and gifts.

Except for the $17 million that went into the presidential compounds, all the expenses listed above were supposed to come out of the $200,000 transition budget. This is clear from the language of the House Appropriations Committee report.

Yet on November 9, when these figures were submitted the former President had already exceeded the budget by a whopping $167,000. This raises the question of who will be stuck for the overspending.

Since Nixon has been pardoned for the crimes his associates have been convicted of, he is still eligible for an annual $60,000 pension and $96,000 staff allowance. The fairest solution might be to deduct the excessive spending from his future appropriations.

Meanwhile, one of the toughest watchdogs in Congress, Rep. Jack Brooks, D-Tex., is keeping a sharp eye on the Nixon spending.

Footnote: The $367,000 in bills Nixon has run up doesn't include the cost of protecting him, which is not considered a transition expense. It will cost the Secret Service at least $622,000 a year to protect the Nixons. Another $126,000 was spent last year on Coast Guard and Secret Service equipment at Key Biscayne.

WASHINGTON WHIRL: As part of the civil defense effort of the 1950s, the federal government stockpiled $60 million worth of portable hospital equipment to be used in case of nuclear attack. This hospital equipment, desperately needed both abroad and at home, is still sitting in warehouses going to ruin for lack of care.

A concerned newspaper in New Jersey, the Elizabeth Daily Journal, has been crusading to help keep six young Vietnamese students from being shipped out of Los Angeles to Saigon. The paper's hands-across-the-nation appeal began when an editor learned that the six had protested against South Vietnam's President Nguyen Van Thieu and thus faced the likelihood of reprisals if they were forced to go home.

Nixon Overspends Allotted Funds

"You Call This a Gold Rush?"

By Rowland Evans and Robert Novak

WASHINGTON—Although he did it with so little fanfare that it seemed furtive, President Ford's signing of the anti-poverty bill last Saturday was the first clear signal that he really wants to avoid a bruising confrontation with the overwhelmingly Democratic 94th Congress.

A veto was urged by conservative Republican politicians and holdover Nixon administration officials because the poverty bill continued the old Great Society program of federally-financed local Community Action. But face with divided counsel, Mr. Ford followed the urgings of moderate Republicans in Congress—particularly Rep. Albert Quie of Minnesota—to sign a bill embodying substantial Democratic compromises.

Even those congressional advisers doubt that Mr. Ford's approval of the bill reflects broad congressional strategy. Nevertheless, a veto would have been an unmistakable, if perhaps unintentional, declaration of war. Now, although the Republican right is provoked, frail hopes for cooperation with Congress have been kept alive.

As a matter of ideology, Mr. Ford had followed the Nixon policy of seeking to stop federal spending for Community Action programs. Caspar Weinberger, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW), has pushed hard to end a program "enormously wasteful of federal resources."

But congressional Democrats made so many compromises in the Community Action bill that the prestigious Quie, once a sharp critic of anti-poverty programs, became a supporter. Rebutting the President's senior advisers, Quie for weeks urged him to sign the bill.

When the compromise version finally passed Dec. 18, Quie took the House floor to plead no veto. On Dec. 19, he telephoned Mr. Ford to repeat that plea personally. An identical call came from an old Ford crony: William Cramer, former Florida Congressman and now a paid lobbyist for the Community Action programs. When the 93rd Congress adjourned Dec. 20, Quie and Cramer were close to certain the bill would be signed.

Despite their long friendship with Jerry Ford, Quie and Cramer may have been misled by his presidential tendency to please all advisers. In truth, the issue was very much in doubt. Weinberger and the HEW upper bureaucracy were adamant for a veto. So were two of the ablest Nixon holdovers: Domestic Council director Kenneth Cole (who leaves March 2) and chief congressional lobbyist William Timmons (who left Dec. 31).

There were arguments against provoking the Republican right. To sign the bill on the basis of Quie-Cramer overtures, one adviser insisted, would reek of cronyism. But the basic argument for a veto was founded on broad strategy: the desirability of confrontation.

Timmons, a tough and crafty veteran of Capitol Hill, feels that a long series of vetoes and overrides can only make the Democratic Congress the irresponsible loser in public esteem. A substantial element of the cabinet, led by Treasury Secretary William Simon, feels such confrontation is essential if the federal budget, the growth of government and rampant inflation ever are to be brought under control. In general, White House aides forecast a veto with considerable certainty.

What spoiled that forecast, surprisingly, was the hide-bound Office of Management and Budget (OMB), whose intransigence had led Mr. Ford into kamikaze vetoes of the vocational rehabilitation and freedom-of-information bills. At the OMB staff meeting, deputy director Paul O'Neill argued for approval. The bill at least would abolish the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) and put the Community Action programs in HEW; paradoxically, a veto would permit OEO to survive under a continuing resolution.

Faced last Saturday with HEW and the Domestic Council urging veto and OMB urging approval, Mr. Ford signed the bill.

That reassures more thoughtful congressional Republicans who feel the state of the nation is too perilous to talk of confrontation. Rep. Earle Conable of New York, chairman of the House Republican Policy Committee, feels "vetoes are unnecessary" and "a lot of our drift has resulted from confrontation."

It may well be that Mr. Ford's signature derived from his habitual and strong reliance on the OMB's recommendations, regardless of its reasons, rather than acceptance of the conciliatory policies urged by Conable, Quie and his other old friends from the House. But whatever the reason, conciliation is at least barely possible today because he chose to avoid confrontation on the poverty bill.

Recollections of the Rountree Affair

The hungry mouth of the steam shovel chewed into the side of Molly Cantrell's pace and withdrew with its jaws dripping lumber. In one morning, the house was down. The old basement bricks were on a trailer truck passing Swope park on Route 50 headed for the Jackson County Home.

The house, blind-eyed and peeling in the sun, had outlived Molly and her friends. A half century ago, the paint was bright. Empty rockers on the porch creaked in the breeze. To tell the story, I must summon ghostly witnesses:

PATROLMAN P. GUILFOYLE: It was a cold night in January. We had a lot of snow two or three days before. About 6 p.m. it started to sleet. I was patrolling up near Molly Cantrell's place when I heard this funny sound.

It was dark, but her porch light was on, and I see this skinny human being with no clothes on. He was running and sliding down her steps and falling into snow drifts. He had his teeth clenched and he had a sort of high-pitched whine coming through his nose, I would say.

I tried to collar him but he kept twisting and falling. Out of the corner of my eye I saw a woman with a heavy veil hurry out of Molly's and run up the street. I had to use my nightstick on the nude man and call for an ambulance.

JULIA ROUNTREE: The hospital said it was an emergency. I took a taxi. It was my Tim all right. They had him on a bed tied up in canvas. He was making funny sounds in his nose and bubbles were on his lips.

The nurses told me nothing, except someone found Tim running through the snow with no clothes on. It's strange because anyone who knew Tim knew he was quiet. Too quiet. We were married four years ago in Grand View. He meant well, all right, but he seldom said anything and he wanted me to stay in the apartment like a prisoner.

I took to crying. We had no children, no friends, I was 23. Life was a prison. My mother said I had made my bed and to lie on it.

DR RAY JAMESON: I was the psychiatrist in residence. The patient was violent and had to be restrained. He emitted animal sounds. The next afternoon he became catatonic. Nothing could make him move or talk.

Rountree was in a world of his own. I could run a sterilized needle through his thigh and he wouldn't blink. We tried a variety of treatments. He responded to nothing. As I recall, he was sent to the county hospital. The prognosis was poor. I didn't do a follow-up on it, but years later I heard he was still there.

POLICE CAPTAIN BERGEN: I was in charge of the investigation. At 10 that night, I was in Molly Cantrell's place for purposes of interrogation. Molly runs a house of assignation. It's not quite a house of prostitution. She keeps an album of pictures and a customer makes a selection for $20.

Molly phones the girl and she and the man go upstairs. Must be five, or six rooms up there. Now Molly's place, as you know, was off in a weedy lot and we had orders from upstairs to leave her alone.

She said that Rountree had been a steady customer for six years. Arrived every payday at 5:30. He didn't like variety, so the same woman was phoned every time. On this particular night, Molly kidded him into trying someone else. His girl was out of town.

He wasn't much of a talker, she said. He told her to pick a girl out of the album. She said to pick one herself. He said no, and went up to Room Four, I think, and took his clothes off. A half-hour later he lost his mind and ran out into the snow.

MOLLY CANTRELL: I picked a bright young thing who was in my album because she said she wanted to earn pin money. They're all dead and gone now, and the doctors tell me I haven't too far to go.

So the truth won't hurt. The girl came to my place, wearing a big hat and a heavy veil. I sent her up to Room Four. When Tim came running downstairs nude, screaming, I was scared.

Then the girl came down. She had tears in her eyes. "Don't ever call me again," she said. "I'm Tim's wife."

Jack and Louise Feye, who helped quench Kingston's thirst for exhilarating entertainment and somnolent spirits during the 1930's and 1940's, were toasted by friends and family with a little of the same Saturday. The occasion: the couple's 50th wedding anniversary.

Any oldtimer with a taste for good liquor and convivial conversation is almost sure to have celebrated good times and bad times at the old Eichler Hotel on Railroad Avenue, or at Feye's Bar and Grill on Wall Street. Feye and his wife ran both places during different periods in the 30's and 40's, and both became landmarks in a way for Kingston's nighttime elbow benders.

Mr. and Mrs. Feye were married Jan. 9, 1925 in New York City. Feye was restaurant captain at the Biltmore Hotel at the time; his wife worked in the kitchen.

"She once told me that when we met, she worked for me, but after we got married, I worked for her," Feye reflected, "she's absolutely right, but I haven't minded one bit."

With the restaurant business a common interest, the Feyes opened their own place in 1927. The Marconi Spaghetti House on 23rd Street and Sixth Avenue lasted until the stock market crash of 1929 shattered everyone's dreams.

Undaunted, the Feyes moved to Kingston in 1930 and rented the old Eichler Hotel from the Andretta Family. Within a few short months, the Eichler became the liveliest nightclub in town.

"We were packed every night," said Feye. "Of course, the train used to stop there with people traveling from the city up to the mountains. It was quite a place."

Perhaps the biggest attraction at the Eichler was the comedy trio of Zep, Zeck and Elmer, who entertained the crowds each night with hillbilly humor and some old fashioned, foot-stompin' jug music. "What most people didn't realize," said Feye, "was that they were two guys from Holland and one from Brooklyn who never even set foot in the south. They were pretty good actors."

But the Feyes stayed at the Eichler for less than two years. In 1933, they opened Feye's Bar and Grill on Wall Street opposite the Ulster County Court House. It quickly became the favorite watering hole for lawyers, judges and politicians.

The Feyes changed course again in 1941, selling the tavern and opening a liquor store at 240 Clinton Avenue. They ran that until 1959, when they retired.

Feye gives his wife much of the credit for their success in Kingston. "She may have stayed in the kitchen most of the time, but she deserves most of the credit," he commented, "I couldn't have done any of it without her."

Mr. and Mrs. Feye live in Hurley, a community he says very much resembles his native Haarlem, Holland. Mrs. Feye is a native of Vienna, Austria.

They have one daughter, Mrs. Margaret (Fred) Miller of Red Hook, and four grandchildren. Their daughter and son-in-law organized the surprise golden anniversary party at Williams Lake in Rosendale last Saturday. Some 50 friends attended.

Although retired for the past 16 years, Feye said he and his wife have no plans to move away from Kingston. "I can't think of a better place to live than Kingston," he said, "the people have all been wonderful. I'd like to thank them for all they've done."

It's Not Only What You Eat, It's the Way That You Eat

Helping oneself to seconds and thirds at the groaning board today could lead to a different kind of "groan" tomorrow when fighting fat begins. Kingston's Robert Ryan family doesn't believe in letting excess poundage creep on. A member of the YMCA, Mr. Ryan sees to it that his wife Liz and children: Bobby, Dennis, Patty and Beth, burn up those calories through plenty of exercise. (Freeman photos)

Kingston Chapter of Hadassah Acknowledges Pride In Accomplishments of Hospital in Jerusalem

Information has been received here in Kingston that has made the Kingston Chapter of Hadassah very proud and has strengthened its belief in the worthy cause for which it is working — the Hadassah Hospital in Jerusalem which treats all those who come in need, regardless of religious affiliation or citizenship.

Recently in Israel a Christian tourist group defied terrorist plans, after a grenade attack, to stay and finish their tour through Israel as reported to the Jerusalem Post, Overseas Edition, Dec. 24th, 1974.

A 17-year-old girl, DeJean Replogle, of Jacksonville, Florida, was injured Sunday, December 22 when a hand grenade was thrown at a busload of American tourists outside St. Lazarus Church in Azariya on the eastern outskirts of Jerusalem.

It was the second terrorist attack in the Jerusalem area over that weekend, both seemingly aimed at marring the Christmas celebrations while security forces were ordered to tighten surveillance throughout the area including the Old City gates.

In the above attack, shrapnel fractured Miss Replogle's right femur. She was reported out of danger after a three-hour operation at Hadassah Hospital by Professor Henry Romanoff, head of the cardiovascular department.

"We were just getting seated in the bus when we heard the explosion," the mother of the wounded girl, Mrs. Marcelle Lee Replogle, said.

Asked whether the attack would stop her from continuing her holiday in Israel, Mrs. Replogle said: "Of course not, we will remain here for Christmas."

The Kingston Chapter of Hadassah is now embarking on a new project — a Hadassah Used Linen Sale to be held at the Dwyer Paint Store on Broadway across the street from the Community Theatre, January 28th (in case of a storm, January 29th). The hours will be from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Hadassah Supplies, which has the ongoing need to replenish tens of thousands of worn-out hospital linens and medical sundries now in heavier use than ever in all the Hadassah Medical Center Departments, will benefit from this project.

For many Americans, growing older often means putting on extra pounds. Little by little, often almost unnoticed, there is a steady gain each year—until one day, the realization dawns that they may be 10, 20, 30, or more pounds overweight.

For most middle-aged victims of so-called "creeping obesity" this excess poundage is often the result of lessened physical activity combined with overeating of high-calorie foods, according to doctors.

There are two obvious solutions in getting rid of pounds: to eat less, of course, and to be more active and burn up those calories through exercise. Yet another one, is to establish new eating habits and patterns, sometimes referred to by doctors as behavior modification.

Fighting Fat

Here are some fat-fighting strategies which illustrate the "It's not only what you eat, but it's the way that you eat it" philosophy, as reported by the Health Insurance Institute:

- Take smaller bites, chew very slowly, wait between bites and courses. Encourage mealtime conversation in between courses, to take your mind off food.
- Choose raw fruits and vegetables that require lengthy chewing. This will result in a slower consumption rate and healthier digestion.
- Have a small non-caloric snack about a half-hour or so before a regular meal. This will dull your appetite and will give you more control when eating your regular meal at home or in a restaurant.
- Another good time for that non-caloric snack is before you go food-shopping. Remember, if you don't bring those cookies into the house, they won't be there to tempt you.
- Eat regularly three times a day.
- Walk, don't ride, whenever possible.

For overly tense individuals, some doctors also recommend keeping a weekly record of familiar stress situations (which often lead to overeating)—and to have a small anticipatory snack before they are expected to arise.

One of the most important psychological aids in dieting, most successful dieters agree, is motivation. No diet is effective unless you are geared mentally to lose weight—and if you are in the proper frame of mind to do so, you will most likely succeed.

Unmarried Daughter Should Cut the Cord and Split

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
1974 by Chicago Tribune
N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 25-year-old unmarried woman. I hold a responsible position and have been self-supporting since I was 18. I am raised to have decent moral standards and I know right from wrong.

I have always lived at home with my parents. I love them very much, but they are my problem. (Especially my mother.)

I've been wanting to have my own apartment for the last three years, but my mother will not hear of it. She says, "Why would a girl want to have her own apartment, if not to have wild parties and let men sleep over? Nice girls live at home. Tramps have apartments!"

This hurts me, Abby, because I am not a tramp and I do not plan to have any wild parties or let men sleep over.

I have dated some, but I never had a steady. I'm not blaming my mother, but when I'm on a date I keep looking at my watch because I know she's waiting up for me.

Am I wrong to want my own apartment? And how can I convince my mother that she's wrong?

OVERPROTECTED
DEAR OVER: You may not be able to convince your mother that she's wrong, but if you're wise, you'll cut the cord. You sound like a mature young woman. So the word from here is, go, and don't feel guilty.

DEAR ABBY: I've been married for 26 years, have three wonderful children and thought I had a good marriage. I now find that my husband (a school teacher) has been having an affair with an 18-year-old girl. He is 46.

I've given him one chance after another, but he says he's "addicted" to this girl. I've showered him with love and understanding, but he still goes back to this girl, who is the age of one of his daughters. He attends church faithfully and even teaches a Sunday school class, and none of this seems to bother him. I'm about ready to go out of my mind. It's needless to say how all this affects our teen-aged daughters.

I say he's sick. He says he's fine. He lies all the time, which is not like him. Do I kick him out, or force him to see a doctor?

HAD IT
DEAR HAD IT: If it's possible to force a man to see a doctor, that's exactly what you should do. Of course he's sick. His behavior is in conflict with his moral principles.

DEAR ABBY: I am planning to marry a woman who was widowed four years ago. (This will be my first marriage.) When we went to pick out the rings, she said all she wanted was an "engagement ring" because she wanted to be married with the wedding ring she now owns. This struck me as being rather odd, but I didn't say anything. (I wasn't even sure I heard right.)

We finally had a discussion about it, and she insists that she doesn't want me to buy her a wedding band—she wants to continue wearing the one her first husband gave her.

Have you ever heard of this before? I am now wondering if it would be a mistake to marry her.

I have known each other only four months, but have spent several weekends together and I thought we knew each other well enough.

I would like your opinion.

SECOND THOUGHTS
DEAR SECOND: I'd have second (third, and fourth) thoughts about marrying her. Get to know her better yet. And don't marry her (or anyone else) while there are still doubts in your mind.

Super Bowlers Tapering Down

By STU CAMEN
UPI Sports Writer

NEA ORLEANS (UPI) — The tapering down for Sunday's Super Bowl IX between the Pittsburgh Steelers and Minnesota Vikings begins today. The Vikings, hoping to avenge the losses they suffered in their two previous Super Bowl appearances, went through their hardest workout of the week Thursday.

"Thursday's always our hardest day of the week for workouts even during the regular season," said Viking coach Bud Grant. "Everybody is taped up and wears pads and pants. We practice our blitz drills. If you're near the field you can hear the hitting but there's no tackling."

The only casualty from the 40-minute practice session was center Mick Tinglehoff who suffered a slightly sprained right ankle shortly after the workout began and sat out the remainder of the session. Tinglehoff had his ankle wrapped in ice by the team trainer as a precautionary measure.

In contrast to Tinglehoff, the news on Minnesota's other two ailing players, quarterback Fran Tarkenton and starting left tackle Charles Goodrum, was much better for Viking fans.

"Tarkenton threw for 25 minutes during Wednesday's workout and his sore right arm didn't seem any worse for having participated," Grant said. "I am confident he can perform his normal functions."

Goodrum pulled a leg muscle earlier in the week but his condition was upgraded by Grant from "doubtful" to "possible" for Sunday's game. "If he continues to improve at this rate, he probably could play and may even start," Grant said.

The Steelers got some good news of their own when they were rejoined by right defensive end Dwight White who had been hospitalized since last Sunday night with a viral infection. White arrived back at the team's training quarters in time to attend the club meeting and practice session. "I'm pretty weak from not eating," White said. "I lost about 10 pounds but I won't have any problem putting it back on."

"I imagine he will be ready to start," said head coach Chuck Noll about the 6-foot-4, 255 pound White. "How long he can go is something we'll find out."

Noll also said wide receiver John Stallworth, who sprained a thumb Tuesday, was catching the ball normally now and that x-rays of the thumb were negative. He also said guard Sam Davis, bothered by a foot injury, could play but Jim Clack will start at left guard.

Thursday was the last day for the players to meet with the news media until after Sunday's game and the only thing on today's agenda was separate news conferences with each of the coaches and Pete Rozelle, commissioner of the National Football League.

Grant was critical of the two week period between the conference championship game and the Super Bowl, saying, "it doesn't take two weeks to prepare for a football game. The coaches need five days and the players only need three. However, I guess the hoopla and promotion for the game may take longer."

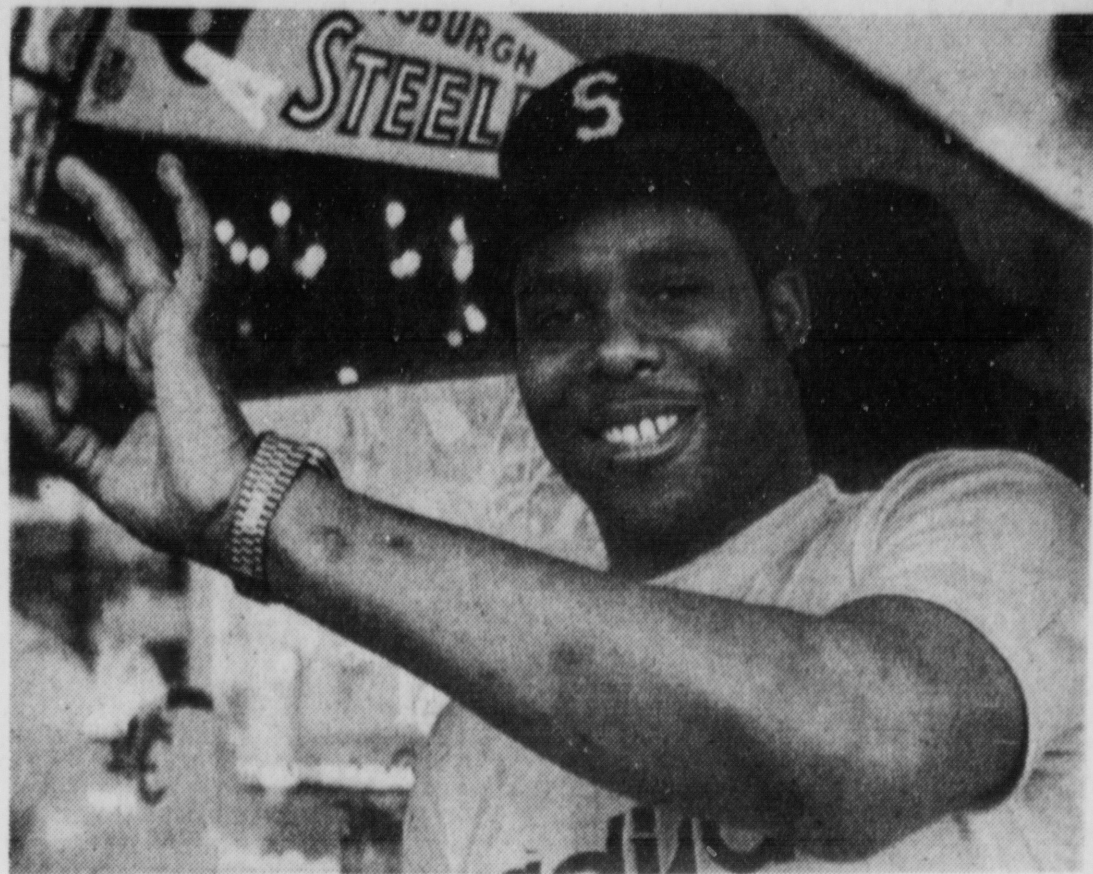

Noll, when asked if he would change anything this week, replied: "If it was up to me, we'd stay at home and do all our practicing there until the end of the week. But I can't change the schedule."

While the statements of Grant and Noll didn't figure to please NFL officials, those same officials couldn't have been more annoyed than they were at the conduct of Los Angeles Ram players Lance Rentzel and Fred Dryer.

Both showed up at Thursday's interview sessions with the Pittsburgh and Minnesota players and coaches in their roles as writers for a national sports magazine. They were dressed like newsmen of the 1920s, complete with Rentzel wearing a fedora with a fake press card in the brim and Dryer carrying an old fashioned box camera.

Several of the Vikings and Steelers, their patience worn thin by the various distractions of the past week, became upset with the turmoil caused by the antics of Rentzel and Dryer and several newsmen also objected to their clowning tactics.

"There's not much we can do about it," said Jim Kensil, executive director of the NFL. "They're accredited. But we will make it clear to the magazine's editors that news conferences are to report news, not to make news."

Fit and Ready

Pittsburgh Steeler defensive end Dwight White is shown at the team hotel Thursday shortly after being released from New Orleans Hospital. White, who has been in the hospital since early in the week, said he would take part in loosening up exercises with the team. (UPI)

Warriors Rip Knicks, 132-96

OAKLAND (UPI) — The surging Golden State Warriors parlayed Rick Barry's 33 points and a 10-point first period by Charles Johnson into a 132-96 rout of the New York Knicks Thursday night.

The victory was the Warriors' sixth in their last seven games and gave them a 26-12 record. New York, 0-3 against Golden State this season, dropped to 22-17.

After the Knicks scored the game's first two points, two straight jump shots by Johnson placed the Warriors ahead to stay and they expanded their lead to 30-16 at the end of the first quarter behind Johnson and rookie Keith Wilkes, who scored eight points.

Barry erupted for 17 of his points in the second period, helping Golden State roll to a 59-42 lead at the half. Barry added 11 points in the third quarter before retiring for the night and the Warriors showed a 91-74 advantage after three periods while making 53 per cent of their shots.

Wilkes was next in the Warriors' scoring column with 18 and Johnson added 17. Reserve guard Henry Bibby led the Knicks with 23 points.

John Havlicek was right.

He struggled along with the rest of the Boston Celtics early in the season while the Buffalo Braves pulled out to a big lead in the NBA's Atlantic Division, but when Dave Cowens showed signs of returning to form after missing the first 17 games with a broken foot, Havlicek said it was "just a matter of time" before the Celtics would be back on top.

The Celtics, defending league champions, showed Buffalo that they're still the team to beat Thursday when they handed the Braves a 108-100 defeat before the largest crowd ever to watch an NBA game in Toronto—13,544. The victory put Boston two full games ahead of Buffalo.

"It's a big victory," said Havlicek after adding 21 points to Cowens' 28 in the win. "It moves us three ahead in the loss column and winning this game moves us one up and drops them one down, so it's like a double victory."

In other NBA action, Golden State romped over New York 132-96 and Washington beat Houston 102-94.

In the ABA, Indiana downed Memphis 122-112 and Kentucky tripped St. Louis 123-116.

Bob McAdoo, the NBA's leading scorer, went over the 5,000-point mark with his 30 point total. McAdoo now has 5,019 points in just 21 1/2 seasons.

The Celtics got a balanced effort, including 16 points each from Don Chaney and Don Nelson. Buffalo guard Randy Smith notched 23 points for Buffalo.

Bullets 102, Rockets 94

Forward Elvin Hayes hit 23 points and grabbed 15 rebounds and Phil Chenier added 21 points to lead Washington over the error-plagued Rockets. The win gave Washington a 28-12 record, best in the NBA. The Rockets hurt themselves with 19 turnovers. Rudy Tomjanovich led Houston with 22 points.

Colonels 123, Spirits 116

Artis Gilmore scored 28 points, pulled down 20 rebounds and blocked eight shots and Bird Averitt added 26 points to pace Kentucky. St. Louis came back from deficits of 14 points in the first quarter and 13 in the second quarter to tie the game late in the third period but couldn't take the lead despite a game-high 29 points from rookie Marvin Barnes. The Colonels pulled away once more and ran up a lead of 19 points midway in the final quarter.

Pacers 122, Sounds 112

George McGinnis scored 31 points and Johnny Neumann hit 15 of his 21 points in the fourth quarter to lead Indiana. Neumann, a former prep star and professional in Memphis, hit a three point play with 53 seconds to go to seal the victory.

Miller Starting in a Hurry

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) — Johnny Miller, as everyone knows, was the king of the tour a year ago when he won eight titles and then went to Japan, just for good measure, and came home with an additional $30,000 for a $384,000 year.

Twice during December he went out to practice and quit after nine holes.

"I was hitting it so good," said the 27-year-old Miller, "that I quit. I didn't see any part of my game that needed work, so why practice?"

To prove his point, Miller went out and shot a four-underpar 67 Thursday in the opening round of the $150,000 Phoenix Open, first event of the 1975 Tour. He hit the ball as well as ever off the tee and putted better than he expected.

"I think I could have shot a better round," he said later, "but I didn't take advantage of all my opportunities. Still, every part of my game seems as solid as it did last year, so I really don't have any complaints. If I keep on playing this way, I will be right up there on Sunday."

John Mahaffey and Leonard Thompson, who ranked 15th and 16th, respectively, on the money winning list last year, more than $200,000 behind Miller, played as well as John in the opening round to grab a share of the lead with 1974's Player of the Year.

There were any number of fine rounds played by the others in the field, but all the attention is on Miller, because of the way he pined the par 37-35—71 Phoenix Country Club course.

Miller eagled the par 5, 524-yard first hole when he put a three-iron to within three feet of the cup and holed out. He also had four birdies and was on the way to a spectacular round when he double bogeyed the fifth while playing the back side first.

"I skulled it on my approach and then missed from 10 feet," Miller said of the hole. "It's the kind of mistake anyone can make, so it didn't upset me."

Mahaffey, playing late in the day when a 20-mile-per-hour wind swept across the Arizona country, had in some respects, a better round. The 26-year-old pro from Texas, who grew up playing in the wind, scrambled a bit but made the most of his opportunities. His best hole was the sixth where he chipped in from 20-feet for a bird.

"The wind didn't bother me, although I don't like to play in it," he said. "In many ways I think I played better than I anticipated."

Thompson was all over the course but made half a dozen outstanding shots to grab a share of the lead. He sank a 45-footer for a bird on the fourth, a 20-footer on the ninth and followed with a 15-footer on the tenth and an 18-footer on the 12th.

"I'm happy because it's the best round I have ever shot on the Winter Tour," said the 28-year-old Thompson.

Six players—Tommy Aaron, Bob Rosburg, J.C. Snead, Roy Taste, Mike Reasor, and Mike Mitchell—were only a shot back at three under 68 while Jim Ahern, Dick Lotz, Pete Brown, John Schroeder, Dwight Nevil and Orville Moody, were at 69.

Islanders Top Flyers; First Time in Philly

By UPI

The Spectrum charm is wearing off for the Philadelphia Flyers.

Philadelphia, which last year became the first expansion team to win the Stanley Cup, largely because it won all nine of its playoff games at home, lost at home to the New York Islanders Thursday night—for the first time ever.

The score was 3-1, and New York's victory snapped an 0-7 run at Philadelphia and was only its second triumph over the Flyers anywhere since it joined the league two seasons ago.

Billy Smith, the Islanders' goaltender, was in, range of his fourth shutout this season, but Ross Lonsberry prevented that when he scored with 7:21 to go.

Bob Nystrom, Clark Gillies and Jude Drouin scored for the Islanders, who are in last place in the NHL's Division I despite the fact they're two games over the .500 mark.

Philadelphia is the division leader.

In the only other games in the NHL Thursday night, Los Angeles defeated Buffalo 5-2 and Boston beat Vancouver 5-1.

WHA scores were Michigan 5, Winnipeg 4 in overtime, New England 1, Phoenix 1, and Edmonton 3, Minnesota 2.

NHL Kings 5 Sabres 2

Butch Goring's 40-foot slap shot in the second period snapped a 2-2 tie and Bob Berry and Mike Murphy scored in the third period for Los Angeles. Bob Nevin and Whitey Widing also got goals for the Kings, while Buffalo twice rallied to tie on scores by Rene Robert and Jocelyn Guevremont.

Bruins 5 Canucks 1

Phil Esposito's 25th career hat trick, raising his totals to 41 goals this season and 507 in his career, paced Boston. Esposito's 507 goals tie Jean Beliveau for fifth place on the NHL's all-time list.

PAC-8: Old, Familiar Scene

By CHRIS SCHERF
UPI Sports Writer

The Pacific-8 Conference is in its natural state with UCLA in front and the rest of the league forced to play "catch-up-if-you-can."

The Bruins opened the Pac-8 basketball race Thursday night against 16th-ranked Washington and immediately took the conference lead with a 92-82 victory.

UCLA won its 11th straight game of the season convincingly, but Bruins Coach John Wooden wasn't impressed. "We've been improving almost every week but I didn't think we showed the same improvement tonight," he said. "But I think much of the credit should go to Washington. They were very strong on the boards and they got good position on us."

Dave Meyers, who has asserted himself as the Bruins' key man this season, scored a game-high 21 points. Pete Trgovich added a career-high 18 points to the UCLA offensive and Richard Washington also finished with 18.

Meanwhile, in an all-too-familiar scenario, UCLA's vanquished opponent, Washington coach Marv Harshman, was consoling himself with a moral victory. After watching his Huskies lose only their third game in 12 this season, Harshman said, "I think we showed we have some people who can really play. All thing being equal, I think we stayed with the Bruins very well."

"John Wooden has another outstanding ball club and I think they're going to be the team to beat in the conference race."

It was the 25th straight time the Bruins had beaten the Huskies and extended UCLA's Pauley Pavilion winning streak to 74 games, dating back to 1970.

In other games involving nationally-ranked squads, third-ranked North Carolina State toyed with Western Carolina, 119-61; No. 4 Louisville edged West Texas State, 53-51, and No. 12 North Carolina nipped Clemson, 74-72.

All-America David Thompson scored 32 points in the Wolfpack's 10th victory in 11 games this season. The Wolfpack forced 18 turnovers in the first half and raced to a 52-22 lead by the intermission.

Phil Spence had 22 points and 12 rebounds for N.C. State, while Moe Rivers added 19 points, Monte Towe 12 and Kenny Carr 11.

Louisville guard Phil Bond scored a breakaway layup at the buzzer to preserve the Cardinals' perfect record this season. But it was the second last-second victory for the Cardinals in their last three games.

Louisville had to score six points in the final three minutes of the game, while holding West Texas St. scoreless, to pull out the road victory. West Texas led 51-47 with 2:56 left to play.

But Wesley Cox scored on a tip-in and Junior Bridgmen, who finished with 10 points, was credited with a basket on a goal-tending call to tie the game. West Texas was working for the last shot when Maurice Cheeks drove the lane and shot, only to have Louisville center Bill Bunton block the ball to Bond, who took it the length of the court for the winning basket.

Allen Murphy scored 14 points to lead the Cardinals' offense.

Mitch Kupchak scored 18 points and grabbed 20 rebounds to play a key role in the Tar Heels' narrow decision over Clemson. Walter Davis, who scored what proved to be the winning basket with 1:07 left in the game, finished with 19 points for North Carolina and freshman Phil Ford added 18.

Clemson's talented freshman duo of Skip Wise and Stan Rome led the Tigers, with Wise scoring 25 points and Rome 15.

In other major games, Hawaii edged Centenary, 79-78; Wichita St. topped Drake, 106-92; Bradley ripped Illinois State, 106-85; DePaul defeated Manhattan, 90-75; Oral Roberts beat Long Beach St., 91-86, and SMU crushed Houston Baptist, 98-67.

Canisius Cans Fogle

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI) — After last season, Larry Fogle said he wouldn't turn pro unless he was given an offer he couldn't refuse.

Today, Fogle, who led the nation's collegiate basketball players in scoring last season, may be listening to any and all offers.

Fogle, a 6-5 junior forward who once scored 73 points during only three quarters of play in a high school game in Detroit, was dropped from the Canisius College team Thursday by Coach John McCarthy.

Dr. Daniel P. Starr, director of athletics at Canisius, said McCarthy was dropping Fogle from the squad for the remainder of the season "for the overall good of the team."

The Griffins got off to a fast 5-0 start this season, but dropped their last two games to the University of Detroit and Duquesne. In the Detroit game, Fogle had 18 points in the first half, but was limited to just two points in the second half while Detroit went into a stall offense.

The storm clouds appeared on the horizon after the Duquesne loss with reports of "shouting and yelling" in the Canisius locker room after the game. McCarthy said afterwards he and the players "were just letting off some steam."

Fogle, a second-team All-American last season when he averaged 33.4 points per game, had missed practice Wednesday and some teammates were reportedly criticizing Fogle for "not hustling on defense."

Fogle, who transferred to Canisius before last season after a year at troubled Southwestern Louisiana, could not be reached for comment at his off-campus apartment.

Drafted after last season by the Denver Nuggets of the American Basketball Association, Fogle said he would play one more season at Canisius unless he was offered a $1 million contract.

Fogle was also the focal point of an NCAA investigation of recruiting policies at Canisius. Sources at the school said the probe centers around alleged money paid to Fogle when he transferred to the college. The results of the investigation are still pending.

This 'Willie Mays' Is No 2

NEW YORK (UPI) — Willie Mays Aikens, a powerful, young man who was born to play baseball in the flamboyant manner of his namesake, was faced with the opportunity today to move west just as Willie Mays did 18 years ago to begin his pro career.

Aikens, who packs a home run punch in his muscular 6-foot-3, 220-pound frame, was made the second choice in baseball's annual winter free agent draft Thursday when he was selected by the California Angels. The only player who went ahead of the 20-year-old first baseman was his former teammate at South Carolina State College, outfielder Gene Richards.

Richards, a plus .400 hitter in his final two collegiate seasons, was signed immediately upon his selection by the San Diego Padres, whose director of player personnel, Bob Fontaine, commented, "He has that little bit of daring in him that makes for a good base runner. Selecting him is just one more step toward attaining our goal of getting more running speed in the organization. He hits for a high average, but is a contact hitter rather than a slugger."

Aikens, though, is the man who can earn the attention because of his name and slugging potential. His mother, Lucile Aikens, made the revelation that it was the doctor who delivered him who suggested the name of Willie Mays.

"When he was born, he weighed about 10 pounds and the doctor said that this boy is going to be a famous ballplayer and that he should be named after Willie Mays," Mrs. Aikens said. "At that time I didn't know he would grow up to be a good ballplayer but my boy has always loved baseball, from a little boy coming up, he was always playing it."

A Prize Pick

Gene Richards, a 21-year-old outfielder from South Carolina State College, was signed by the San Diego Padres in the Winter Free Agent Draft. Richards, a six foot, 175 pound slugger, hit .450 and .414 the last two years, and he also plays first base. (UPI)

Basketball Roundup

Beacon at Kingston;
SHS to Roosevelt

KINGSTON Kingston High School's varsity basketball team, hard-pressed to beat Saugerties in the closing seconds Wednesday, returns home to the Kate Walton Field House tonight at 8 p.m. to face the tough challenge of Beacon High in a Dutchess County Scholastic League encounter.

Elsewhere in the DCSL, Saugerties tries to shake off the heart-breaking defeat to Kingston by going to Roosevelt; John Jay is at Lourdes; Poughkeepsie is at Arlington; and Ketcham hosts Spackenkill.

In the Ulster County Athletic League, Coleman is home for Highland; Red Hook goes to Liberty; Rondout is at Wallkill; Marlboro visits Pine Bush; Onteora hosts Fallsburgh; and Ellenville travels to New Paltz.

Beacon brings to Kingston a 2-1 team and three of the league's better scorers: George Hughes (22.3), Mike Armstrong (19.3), and Larry Paulin (17.7). The Bulldogs could be just the team to bring KHS out of the euphoria created in Saugerties.

The Sawyers must look ahead, not back, tonight at Roosevelt. But the Presidents won't make getting well an easy job for Larry Marcus' five. Dan Marquadt leads a potent FDR club.

Marlboro should move into first place in Division II of the UCAL tonight what with Red Hook expected to take the mandatory defeat at Liberty. The only excitement in Ulster County these days is trying to pick a winner in next week's showdown between Sullivan County's Liberty and Fallsburgh.

OCS Sweeps Windham

PINE HILL Onteora High's powerful ski teams dealt highly-rated Windham High a double-barreled setback in a non-league duel over the rugged Seneca Trail at Belleayre Ski Center.

The boys avenged their only defeat of the 1974 season by winning with a combined time of 292.29 seconds to 306.66 for Windham, yielding first place and taking the next nine.

The Onteora girls surrendered the first two places, then scrambled back to win a 331-82 to 333.56 thriller and handed Windham its first defeat in three years.

"Pam Viglielmo, a ninth grader, scored the decisive win by taking ninth place in the girls event," said a happy Coach Joel Tomson. "Our boys' squad has considerable depth and I was pleased with the way it performed over the Seneca trail the first time we raced there."

Ken Lane of Windham was clocked in 54.48 seconds down the 40-gate slope, nearly two seconds ahead of Matt Earnest. Conrad Earnest was third and Tony Sears fourth. "The Earnest brothers and Sears give us one of the top trios in the UCAL," Tomson enthused.

Eva Siecinski and Hope Sheridan finished one-two for Windham in the girls' race.

Siecinski's 60.59 clocking was described as "fantastic" by Tomson. Barbara Sheehan of Team won third place. Tracy Jennings, Ellen Sheehan, Bianca Schaeffer, Pam Viglielmo and Bryana Hancock also figured in the OCS win.

NPH Flips Kingston

NEW PALTZ New Paltz High, a contender for the Ulster County Athletic League title this season, got a heavyweight victory from Bob Kopsick in the final bout of the day to turn back visiting Kingston, 34-22 in an exhibition battle Thursday.

Kingston's fellow DCSL member Saugerties evened the inter-league slate by knocking off Pine Bush, 45-6. In a Wednesday match, Rhinebeck, in its first year of competition, dropped a DCSL contest to Beacon, 53-9.

The Huguenots dominated most of the lighter classes to build a lead on the Maroons. Bob McGuire in 114 kept his winning streak intact at six with a 12-8 decision over KHS' Phil Brown to highlight four wins in the first five weights for New Paltz.

Kingston fought back as the Reedy brothers, Doug and Ron, won a pair of decisions. Rich Sippel, also undefeated in six outings, took a superior decision from Dan Mesches in 169 to set up the match between Kopsick and Andres Clarke.

"I thought for a minute there that Clark was going to pull it out," said Kingston coach Dean Short. Kopsick, however, finally pulled his man down 5:50 into the battle.

Kingston slipped to 4-2 overall as the Hugies went to 2-0-1.

Saugerties had little trouble with the Bushmen though only Jim Bishop (107) and Herman Knaust (114) recorded pins. George Redder, Rich Dussol, Jim Hallion and Dave Heineck all rolled up superior scores to power the win, Saugerties' fifth in six dual matches.

LOVE, POUNDS: (Q.) There are these twins across the street from me. I like them both. I have told them that I do. There is this big dance coming up at school. I really want to go. I just don't know which one to ask. I have to lose 40 pounds before I can go. It is in March.
My mother won't take me to the doctor. What can I do about losing weight? — 15 and in Love in Florida.
(A.) Forty pounds is a lot to lose by March. It may be too much. Your doctor can advise you on that and put you on a diet that will take off pounds as fast as possible and as safely as possible in the light of your physical condition.
Show this to your mother. I believe it will convince her you are serious and maybe it will change her mind about the doctor.
While you are losing weight, keep in touch with the twins. As you get to know them better you will find that although they look alike there are all kinds of differences in them. And you will no doubt get to like one more than the other. She will be the one to ask to the dance.

DROPPED: (Q.) I really thought Rex cared, but when school started he dropped me and started hanging around with a lot of cool guys. Last summer he came over to my house nearly every day and I really fell in love with him. I miss him so much. What can I do? It's not another girl; it's his cool friends. — Mourning in Massachusetts.
(A.) If Rex would drop you for some group he considers cool, he would drop you for some other reason, including another girl. I personally don't think he is really very cool, and I think you could do much better than Rex. Please try.

West opens the king of diamonds against South's three no-trump contract. South can't afford to win that trick since he must take a club finesse later. West continues with the 10 and again South must duck.

At this point a West with a one-track mind will lead a third diamond. South will win; take and lose the club finesse and watch East suffer, since East won't be able to do anything to get West into the lead.

Before leading that third diamond West must realize that the play is hopeless. Maybe nothing else will be any better, but a shift to the 10 of spades might just be a winner. He should make that shift.

It will be a winner! South will have lost two diamonds and will have to lose two spades and a club later. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

Kissinger's Oil Stand...Shocking But Also Seen Necessary

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry Kissinger's refusal to rule out military force if a Middle East oil cutoff "strangles" the United States brought into sharp focus the ultimate peril if conservation, cooperation and conciliation fail.

The impact of the remark here and abroad was considerable. Kissinger undoubtedly knew it would be. There is no evidence that he was at all dismayed by the immediate reaction, some of it critical.

In the view of many diplomats, Kissinger was trying to bring home to all the nations concerned that they would risk a holocaust if they did not act swiftly and with good faith to find a solution.

Analysis

The secretary said that only "massive political warfare" could bring down oil prices. This, he said, would be reckless, would mean that Americans had not learned the lessons of Vietnam, and perhaps a confrontation with the Russians. He said force would be considered only in "the gravest emergency."

Then Kissinger stated officially and publicly what has been discussed behind the scenes for weeks: the United States could not avoid using any method, including military force, if the oil problem reached "some actual strangulation of the industrial world."

That is an extreme situation, but officials say it is inconceivable that the United States would not do what is necessary if the economic structure of the industrialized world were on the brink of toppling for want of petroleum.

Kissinger's statement may have shocked a number of people and countries, but many American officials regarded it as a necessary warning about the grim reality if Western efforts are relaxed.

Kissinger's statement, made in an interview with Business Week magazine, was clearly deliberate. Although it was given in response to a question, the secretary read the transcript of the interview and approved it before publication.

And in answering the question, he divided it into two parts to make clear that he was not talking about military force simply to lower prices but only to prevent the collapse of the Western economy.

Kissinger's statement presumably was aimed at three targets: the American public, the European allies and the Arab and other oil producing countries.

India Formally Recognizes Arafat's PLO

By UPI

India today became the first non-Arab country to extend formal recognition to the Palestine Liberation Organization, giving the guerrilla group another diplomatic victory.

Indian Ambassador to Lebanon S.K. Singh and PLO Chairman Yasser Arafat signed documents accrediting a PLO representative to India, a representative of the Indian Embassy in Beirut said.

The PLO operates information offices in several European countries, mostly Communist nations, and also has an office in New York.

But its representative in India will have the status of a diplomat, enjoying privileges and diplomatic immunity, an Indian spokesman said.

Last year the U.N. General Assembly granted the PLO observer status at its sessions and allowed Arafat to address the world body during the debate on Palestine, over strenuous objections from the United States and Israel.

France, whose Foreign Minister Jean Sauvagnargues was the first Western foreign minister to meet Arafat in late 1974, has not gone as far as India in affording the PLO formal recognition.

President Anwar Sadat of Egypt, meanwhile, said he would welcome additional Israeli withdrawals from Arab territories it occupies to set the stage for renewed Middle East peace talks in Geneva.

"If Israel is ready to withdraw from an Arab territory, we should not refuse that. We should take it. Regaining every inch of our land is a sacred duty," Sadat said.

"I do not accept less than the return of all my land...Sinai, and all the Golan Heights, and Jerusalem." But he added he would accept a gradual Israeli withdrawal from those territories.

"The next step in withdrawal, if it takes place, should be fulfilled as a prelude to the Geneva conference, and with the aim of defusing the bomb which is about to explode," Sadat said in an interview published Thursday.

The Egyptian leader, in an interview with the Beirut newspaper An Nawar, said peace talks "cannot covene under the threat of the bomb going off."

Israeli troops seized the Sinai Desert territory in Egypt along with the Golan Heights in Syria and the West Bank of Jordan during the 1967 Middle East War.

There was a partial Israeli withdrawal in the Golan Heights and the Sinai after the 1973 war, but Israel and Egypt have not agreed on the extent of the next pullbacks.

In London, Middle East diplomats said Sadat is afraid that militant Syria might drag Egypt into an unwanted war — one Egypt is unprepared for.

Western defense experts said Russia has supplied Syria with some $2 billion worth of new, sophisticated weaponry and Syria believes it can carry on a war by itself.

Saudi Arabia, meanwhile, announced it has agreed to buy several squadrons of jet fighters from the United States. The $750 million arms deal includes support equipment and pilot training.

Oil Refinery Union Accepts Two-Year Pact

DENVER (UPI) — The nation's 60,000-member oil refiners' union accepted a new two year contract with Gulf Oil Co., today ending threats of a nationwide walkout. Union officials said the settlement would be a basis for contracts with the other major oil companies.

A.F. Grospiron, president of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers union, said the new contract was a "good, heavy package" that would be used as a "minimum standard for contracts with other major (oil and chemical) companies."

"It is absolutely not inflationary," said Grospiron after a six-hour meeting with OCAW's national oil policy bargaining committee in Denver. "There will be absolutely no excuse for raising gasoline prices or anything like that."

The contract called for a 75 cent hourly wage increase effective retroactively rather than the $1.20 compromise demand made Monday by OCAW. The union's original request was for an hourly raise of $1.50.

Grospiron said the new contract, affecting 2,250 workers at gulf plants in Port Arthur, Toledo and Cleveland, Ohio; and Santa Fe Springs, Calif., provided for a 4 per cent increase July 8 and a third raise of 8 per cent next Jan. 8.

The bargaining committee began its meeting as a second deadline of 7 p.m. (MST) passed Thursday without agreement by OCAW whether to strike or accept the Gulf contract. The 24 hour deadline was set by Grospiron Wednesday night.

Early Thursday, Grospiron said any authorized strike by the bargaining committee would be directed against specific refiners and would not include all union members.

Most of the union men had worked despite expiration of 423 contracts with oil and chemical companies that ran out at midnight (local time) Tuesday. The new contract covered 14 Gulf plants.

Wildcat strikes involving about 8,000 workers occurred despite Grospiron's urging that union men remain on the job. The walkouts were at four Texaco, Gulf, Standard and American-Petrolina refineries at Port Arthur, Tex., and El Segundo, Calif.

Hints New CIA Abuses

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The CIA last year apparently invited American companies to snoop on Russian and European transportation systems.

The object of the secret operation was to find out if Europe and Russia were developing air and land transportation that would be superior to the U.S. system by the 1980's, according to Sen. Richard S. Schweiker, R-Pa.

Schweiker Thursday released the text of a CIA letter dated Nov. 26, 1974, formally soliciting companies to sign up for the program. Its language indicated it was drawn up to be sent to a number of firms. Schweiker got it from someone in an unnamed company to which it was sent.

He suggested the contract solicitation may be a new violation of the CIA's charter and that it took the spy agency into a field that properly belonged to either the departments of Transportation or Commerce.

The development came in the midst of controversy over charges that CIA, in violation of its charter, has spied on Vietnam war dissidents and other Americans at home.

With pressure growing from Congress for a complete investigation of both domestic and foreign operations of the agency, there were indications the White House may announce the executive director of President Ford's panel to probe CIA domestic activity. Vice President Nelson Rockefeller, who heads the panel, reportedly recommended a chief of staff for it, and the recommendation was accepted by Ford.
